Resident Lifting Products

A wide variety of commercial products are available to lift or transport residents or aid them in becoming mobile. This list is not exhaustive, but it may provide a starting point for choosing what equipment your facility could use in your particular application.

Lifts range from the simple slides to move people on or off beds, through portable hydraulic or electric lifts to raise patients or help them become vertical, to ceiling-mounted lifts for a wide variety of uses.

We have provided contact information for the companies noted in each category, so that readers may follow up for more specific information.
